THE SITUATION IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

In 1877 the vote in the Sixth Congressional District, now represented by Gabe Bouck, was Republican, 9,039; Democratic, 9,940; Greenback, 6,050. It will thus be seen that the majority against the Democratic candidate was over 5,000. There has no doubt been a considerable increase of the Greenback party, probably from 30 to 50 per cent. and perhaps more. Some demoralization has ensued from the discovery that the Greenback candidate for Congress was ineligible. Prior to that, though a man of only the most moderate ability and quite unknown in the most of the district, he was making a very successful campaign and had fair to carry the district against both Bouck and Grimmer. There was probably little expectation on the part of the Republicans of carrying the district when it was found that neither of their staunch men like Sawyer, Kelly or Browne, would accept the nomination. The discovery of the ineligibility of Grimmer about the same time with that of Griffiths completes the chaos in the parties opposed to Bouck, but at the same time opened the way for negotiations.

If a candidate could be proposed upon whom both the Greenbackers and Republicans could unite, evidently Bouck's fate would be sealed. But on the other hand, a portion of the Greenbackers, a very minor, but a very noisy portion, were in favor of endorsing Bouck on the strength of the platform presented by the Democratic Convention, which platform was considerably more ultra and verged more upon the communistic and socialistic views than even that of the Greenbackers themselves.

But a majority of the Greenbackers are bitterly opposed to this policy as a most suicidal one. It is thought by some that if a straight party nomination is made by the Greenbackers, the election would be between the candidate of the latter and Bouck. The worst then that would result would be the election of Bouck, while the chances would be under the circumstances in favor of the National candidate. It is thought by the more sagacious Greenbackers that it would be hardly worth while to demoralize and virtually disband their party when at the very best they would gain nothing better than would certainly follow by a straight nomination. Then, too, Bouck's Greenbackism is of a very dubious character, something obviously taken under stress of circumstances, and in any and all cases held subordinate both personally and practically, to the demands of his own party. Colonel Bouck belongs, in almost the mercantile sense, to his party. He believes in the caucus, and is known to have supported measures last winter, agreed upon in the Congressional Democratic caucus, which he privately repudiated in language which was not at all of a religious character though abounding in theological terms.

The Greenback Congressional Committee, after much private deliberation, have relieved themselves of the responsibility of the situation by calling a convention to meet on the 8th of October, to which the whole subject will be submitted. That Convention will doubtless make a straight nomination, though we see no reason why the Greenbackers can not support Hon. J. V. Jones, of Oshkosh, who was nominated for Congress by the Republicans on Tuesday. By endorsing him, the defeat of Bouck will be secured, an event which will be heartily welcomed by all good citizens. The Greenbackers should remember that they can earlier secure what they desire—the return of good times—by supporting the Republican ticket than by taking any course which will eventually result in the election of such an obnoxious and unprincipled man as Gabe Bouck. He has no settled principles, and will take any course which will secure votes for him. A Greenbacker should repudiate all such men, and should unite with the Republicans in making sure his defeat.

NUMBER 177

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

The advice received from all quarters represent the outlook as very promising for the Republicans. This does not have special reference to this State or to Rock county, but generally throughout the North. In the State of New York the Republicans are exceedingly hopeful. The party is united, its platform meets the praise of all honest money men regardless of party; and a vigorous effort will be made to carry the State, an effort which the public men of New York prophesy will prove successful. The news from Ohio is also very encouraging. The Democratic party is very much disaffected there, and as the time for holding the State election approaches, the disaffection continues to increase. The Greenbackers are strong in many portions of the State, but they are more threatening to the Democrats than to the Republicans; and this condition of things is considered favorable to the Republican victory so far as the State ticket is concerned, and that it bids fair to elect our Congressmen in the Toledo District, the Cleveland District, Foster's new District, and in the First Cincinnati District. The only danger which the Republicans fear, is the prohibition movement—a movement which generally plays in the hands of the Democratic party. But the struggle in that State, as in others, for honest money and for the upbuilding of all the industries of the country, is an earnest one, and almost unanimously elicits the sympathy and the zeal of the party, so that all side issues and minor questions will be generally ignored.

In Wisconsin, the political situation maintains a very satisfactory brightness. There are no disaffections in the ranks as found in the ranks of the Democratic party. The Republicans as a party, are united and hopeful, while this cannot be said of either of the other parties. The Democrats are drifting on the political sea without principle or hope, and the so-called Greenbackers, have no financial policy on which any ten of them can agree. The Republicans of Wisconsin do agree that the public faith shall be kept, the national credit maintained, that an honest and unchanging paper currency shall be furnished the people, that all the manufacturing, agricultural and commercial interests of the country shall be promoted by the aid of that kind of paper money which shall always be on a par with gold, so that neither the man who manufactures, or tills the soil, or engages in trade, or labors as a day-workman, shall be cheated by a depreciated currency. This is the financial policy of the Republican party, and it is a policy which will be soundly endorsed by the people of this country on the 5th day of next November.

The Hon. J. V. Jones, of Oshkosh, was nominated on Tuesday for Congress by the Republicans, in place of George Grimmer, who was found to be ineligible. Mr. Jones is a lumberman by occupation, and was Mayor of Oshkosh in 1871, 1873 and 1874, and was elected to the Legislature last year by eleven majority over the Democratic candidate. We do not doubt that Mr. Jones is a strong man, and if elected would make a very useful member of Congress, but as the struggle in that District will be a desperate one, we are of the opinion that the strongest man in the Sixth District should have been called out and compelled to make some personal sacrifice for an honorable cause—that of politically killing Gabe Bouck. We sincerely hope however, that Mr. Jones, by the aid of all Republicans in the District, will do the work.

The Democrats in the First District in this county, have nominated Hon. Maryin Osborne, of Magnolia, for the Assembly. He has been a Republican all his life until within the last few weeks. He began to lean toward Greenbackism, and then fell into the arms of the Democracy. Mr. Osborne, it will be remembered, was a Republican in the Legislature in 1875, and led the opposition to Mr. Carpenter's reelection for the Senate, and a month ago was in favor of re-electing Senator Howe. The Democrats in this county are hopeless of success that in order to strengthen their ticket are engaged in stealing our Republicans.

Stewart is still at work trying to elect Parker to Congress. They travel together among the school districts and are on a still hunt. Stewart, who is working by the day for Parker, does not touch the Doolittle-Parker platform. He can't make Parker stand upon it, and at the same time preach his infidelity and irredeemable theory, and although Parker signed the answer to Doolittle's letter, he proposes to ignore it in the school districts.

Sensor Howe will begin a series of campaign speeches on the 8th of October. His appointments so far announced, are for Kenosha, Racine, Delavan, Beloit, Janesville, Monroe, Madison, and Baraboo. He will speak at Beloit on the 11th of the month, and at Janesville on the 14th.

From all the manufacturing and commercial cities of the Union there comes the cheering news that business is rapidly reviving. The prospects are more flattering now than they have been since the panic began in 1873.

There are already over one hundred general and local appointments for Republican speakers made for October in this State. The number will be swelled to several hundred in the course of two weeks.

Among the good things which will come out of the present Administration will be that of making sugar from corn-stalks. A Democratic Administration would have never discovered that method of making sugar.

POLITICAL.

Matt. Carpenter Will Not Enter the "Bear Garden."—Republican Nomination in the Sixth District—Williams at Racine.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. Oct. 1.—The dispatch to Matt. H. Carpenter at Washington, asking him if he would accept the Republican nomination for member of the House in this district, was not sent to him till to-day. It was prepared yesterday afternoon, and signed by fifteen of his friends and supporters. As soon as it became known that the movement was on foot, counter movements were started. The Hon. James C. Coleman, of Fond du Lac, Carpenter's local partner in Washington, is in the city, and entered his decided protest against it, and telegraphed to Carpenter not to accept such a nomination under any circumstances. Other friends of Carpenter took decided grounds against the proposition. Under these circumstances a delay occurred, and the telegram went to Carpenter this afternoon. His reply has been received, in which he declines the Congressional nomination in advance. He says, in his dispatch, that he declines to refuse anything to the friends who ask him to be a candidate, but that he cannot accept the nomination. He adds a quotation from John Radolph about the House, in which it is spoken of as a bear-garden, and says that if elected, he would be utterly lost in it. It is now entirely uncertain who will be nominated by the Republican Convention.

QUINCY, Wis. Oct. 1.—Charles G. Williams, Republican candidate for Congress in this District, spoke on the financial question before a very large audience at Belle City Hall here this evening. His speech was a vigorous one and was delivered with unusual force and earnestness. The large crowd was very enthusiastic.

QUINCY, Wis. Oct. 1.—The Republican Convention of the Sixth Congressional District nominated James V. Jones, of Oshkosh. The nominee is a manufacturer of sash and blinds, has been Mayor and member of the Assembly, and is a wide-awake, active business man. Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of New York, delivered a rousing political address to-night to a crowded house.

THE FEVER.

A Sad Recital—The Epidemic on the Increase—The Weather Continues Unfavorable.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. Oct. 1.—To-day has been an unusually quiet one, although the death rate still retains its alarming high figure—fifty deaths from yellow fever is the day's record. Seventeen of these died outside the corporate limits of the city, and are not included in the official report of the Board of Health. What was witnessed in the city four weeks ago is now being experienced in the country back of Memphis. The citizens of Memphis who fled the city, and took refuge in dwellings in the interior, are now suffering all the horrors of the epidemic which has ravaged the city.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 1.—Deaths, 54 cases reported, 231. Total deaths, 3,899; cases 9,616.

TRICKSBURG, Wis. Oct. 1.—Clear and warm all day, thermometer, 93; slightly cloudy to-night.

Twelve deaths to-day; ten whites and two colored. Three of them were from the country.

ACCIDENT.

NEWPORT, R. I. Oct. 1.—The Hon. Geo. Bancroft, the historian, while riding on Paradise road this afternoon in company with a lady, was thrown from his carriage, the horses becoming frightened. He was seriously injured about the head. The lady and coachman were somewhat injured.

Next Tuesday the States of Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and North Virginia, will elect certain State officers, Congressmen, and members of the Legislature.

The friends of Matt. Carpenter, at least a large number of them, are anxious that he shall run for Congress in the Milwaukee District. His nomination will create the liveliest political fight ever known in Milwaukee. Matt. would clean out Deuster by a majority so large that the latter would never come to the political surface again. Then only think of Matt. in the House! There would be one continual field-day, and a lively one for the boys.

General Stewart L. Woodford, of New York, one of the most accomplished political speakers in this country, will speak in Milwaukee this evening.

The Question of the Day.
National finance is without doubt the most important problem of the times, and the second edition of Mr. Fawcett's Hand Book of finance, just published by S. C. Griggs & Co., Chicago, appears most opportunely. This volume gives the history of paper money, from its very beginning down to its sovereign supremacy in civilized countries and particularly in the United States; it treats of suspensions of specie payments, and supplies a complete and lucid digest of the monetary laws for the United States. The book presents over 80 tables and diagrams, showing precisely the facts to which reference is most frequently necessary, including very many things which one needs to know, whether he has to do with financial questions or not.

Every citizen should inform himself on this subject as thoroughly as possible, and the following extract from leading papers about Fawcett's Hand-Book of Finance, show how important an aid it will be to any one.

"This volume should be read by all who take an interest in financial matters."—London Commercial Gazette (England.)

"Of estimable importance in the study of finance."—Courier-Journal, Louisville.

"There is no species of exact information bearing upon the financial question which cannot be quickly found between these covers."—Utica Morning Herald.

"Mr. Fawcett's statistics are of such value that we do not see how any one who pretends to discuss finance generally can afford to be without them."—Morning World, London.

"We recommend all who desire to master the subject of finance, by the argument of logic and the logic of facts, carefully to read Fawcett's 'Hand-Book of Finance.' As a full and very complete collection of monetary statistics this work has never been equalled or approached. It is a storehouse of facts."—Philadelphia Press.

"It cannot fail to be of great use to students, writers and legislators, as also to bankers and merchants who desire to inform themselves of the influences which surround and consequently affect, favorably, if understood and availed of, or unfavorably if disregarded, all their financial and commercial operations. Accepting Mr. Fawcett's estimate of the steady increase of consumption of gold in the arts, the adoption of the double standard—gold and silver—as the basis of the monetary system, not only of the United States, but of all countries, will soon become an absolute necessity. Either this, or the enlargement of the volume of paper money."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Fawcett's Hand-Book of Finance" may be had of booksellers, or S. C. Griggs & Co., Chicago, will send it prepaid on receipt of price $1.75.

How shall we regain our losses is the question thought over by many in these times. Take our advice and remit a small amount to Alex. Frothingham & Co., brokers, 13 Wall Street, New York, who by their judicious investments have relieved hundreds from pressing need. Send for their Financial Report, sent free.

Ex-Senator Pomeroy Gives a Reminiscence.

From the speech delivered at Ellsworth, Kansas, Mr. Pomeroy told how the greenback came to be issued. How himself and a congressman from Buffalo, N. Y., went with Secretary Chase to New York to borrow $7,000,000, and how on this trip they urged the greenback question upon Secretary Chase, who opposed it. How he finally adopted it, and how green was chosen as the color, because it could not be photographed; how he (Pomeroy) was sent to New York by Secretary Chase to buy the patent of a chromo green, then recently invented (the green now used on bills and postage stamps), the green in use at that time being arsenic colors, and poisonous.

How She Took Calomel.

After the preliminaries of examination were over, and he was about to prepare his medicine, I ventured this remark: "Doctor, do not, please, prescribe any calomel for me." I was decidedly opposed to its use. "You are very ill, Mrs. —, and it is absolutely necessary for you to take a little; a very little will do you no harm." He left after giving directions how to use it. Aunty took the powder, and hurried to prepare warm water, etc., as directed, but soon she hastened to my room with such a frightened look on her face—"I have lost the powder," said she, "what shall I do?" I thought one moment. "Never mind, Aunty; I am glad you lost it; now give me something in its place, whatever you may think best. She prepared a dose of castor oil smothered in peppermint. It worked like a charm, for in the morning I was well enough to dress and receive the doctor in the parlor. He looked his astonishment at beholding me erect before him, and in reply to his tender inquiries after my health, I said I felt much better this morning. As he rose to go he remarked triumphantly, "Now, Mrs. —, you will not object to taking calomel." I never despised the Doctor's illusion, and this was how I took calomel.

This morning about 6 o'clock Thomas Andrews, a well-known miller in this city, died at his home on Cherry street. AMONG THE SCHOOLS.

How the Young Ideas are Being Taught to Shoot.

The public schools of the city are now getting into good working condition, the teachers and scholars having become somewhat used to the changes which are incident to the opening of every school year.

Through the courtesy of Mr. James Shear, ex, the efficient Clerk of the Board of Education, we have had the pleasure of visiting all the buildings on the West side of the river, and seeing the actual workings of the various departments. The teachers are enthusiastic in their work, and in most instances are determined that the pupils shall not merely know what the book says, but what it means. One particularly noticeable feature was the evident thoroughness with which the work is being done. Set questions and answers are thrown to the winds, and there is little of that catechismal form of work which makes mere machines of the scholars. Whenever there seemed to be any doubt as to whether the scholar understood clearly what was being read or recited, the misty point was not passed until it had been cleared up. Even a hurried glance at the schools will convince any one that good thorough work is being done there.

Another happy feature seems to be the tendency to practicalize the teaching. In the conducting of many classes this was markedly evident. It penmanship, in the language exercises, and in geography this was particularly noticeable. The teachers sandwiched in all sorts of every-day facts and usages, which cannot fail to aid greatly in the future practical lives of the learners.

The general order of the various rooms is worthy of commendation. There has been considerable complaint that there is too much "red tape" and too much iron discipline and petty rules, but a visit to the rooms does not seem to warrant such a condemnation. When one sees the large number of children gathered in our schools, and watches the practical workings for a short time even, the necessity becomes at once apparent, of requiring the observance of many forms and rules which under other circumstances would be unnecessary. The best of orders was being preserved in nearly all the rooms visited, and yet the children seemed to be robbed of none of that youthful fire and enthusiasm which is so useful for successful study.

The school buildings seem neat and comfortable, and there can be no cause for criticism or complaint in that respect.

One noticeable feature of a trip through the schools is the scarcity of visitors. In all the buildings of the West side, not one person was met who was not actively engaged in their school work. The parents seem for some reason derelict about performing their duty in the matter. If they would drop into the school occasionally, and see for themselves what was there being done, instead of taking it second-hand from their children, there would be fewer wrong impressions go out as the methods of teaching and manner of discipline. It would also establish pleasant relationship between the teacher and the parent, and a help to all concerned. These are public institutions, and the public should take a public interest in them. They should be frequently visited and the teachers should have the encouragement and counsel of parents and friends. They surely will bear inspection, and within the walls of the school room will be found much to interest and instruct any who will improve the invitation of the Board of Education to "drop in and see for yourself."

A POSTOFFICE INVENTION.

There has been received at the postoffice a sample of the new tin envelope for the transmission through the mails of certain articles which have heretofore been excluded. It is manufactured by L. W. Lawrence, 89 Liberty street, New York, and resembles a little round tin box, with a chance to write the address on one side and to put the postage stamp on the other. It is also arranged so that the cover cannot tumble off, and yet it can be easily opened and closed again by the postoffice employees. The Postmaster General has sent out those samples in accordance with the recommendation of a committee appointed to decide upon the best method of transmitting through the mail certain articles such as flour, sugar, and other powdered substances, and small sharp pointed instruments heretofore excluded. The instructions are to receive at third class rates all articles of that class (except liquids, poison, glass, and explosive materials) which enclosed in this way, or in such other similar wrappers as may hereafter be approved by the Postmaster General.

THE DOTY CASE.

I noticed in last night's Gazette an article in reference to the case of the State against Henry A. Doty, in which the following language occurs: "The Justice not only decided against the State, but said the transaction so far as Mr. Doty was concerned, out of which the dispute arose, was highly complimentary to that gentleman."

Now I consider it nothing more than simple justice to myself as well as to the parties connected with the matter to state that I did not use the language ascribed to me in that article, nor any similar language. I simply decided that in my judgment the evidence did not warrant me in finding that the offense charged in the complaint had been committed; and gave my reasons therefor, without complimenting, or reflecting upon any one.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movement of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's Great Liver is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

Beyond the Reach of Human Skill.

Is the power to restore the hair to bald heads when the bulbs at the roots are destroyed by age or disease; but there are doubtless many persons becoming bald, whose hair by careful attention might be restored to its original luxuriance and beauty. Parker's Hair Balm is an elegant preparation, designed to meet the public want for a harmless hair dressing and restorative. It acts like magic, commencing at the very roots, removes dandruff and all humors from the scalp, and never fails to restore gray or faded hair to the original color, and the soft, rich and glossy appearance of youth. By its occasional use falling of the hair is immediately checked, and a luxuriant and beautiful growth of young hair is induced. The exquisite perfume and the purity of its composition are highly appreciated, and as it is not a dye and does not stain the skin or clothing, it is a growing favorite of the toilet table everywhere. Buy a bottle from your druggist A. J. Roberts, Janesville, Wis., and test its merits.
